BY THE SENATE.

January 31.

The senate have had the resolution for the removal of Judge Hollingsworth under consideration. The senate assent to the resolution generally, believing as they do, that the removal of Judge Hollingsworth is required by the public interest.

But in the discharge of this painful duty, the senate cannot lose sight of the individual who is the object of it.

The investigation made by the senate into the conduct and character of Judge Hollingsworth, has satisfied them that he has failed to give that attendance on the courts which the nature of his appointment, and the public interest required.

But from the testimony exhibited to the senate, they are not satisfied that the charge of intemperance is sufficiently supported, or that Judge Hollingsworth has, from that cause, been rendered incompetent to the discharge of the duties of a judge. With this explanation of their reasons, the senate assent to the resolution.

The senate resumed the consideration of the bill relating to the election of the senate—and the question put, Shall the bill pass?

LIBERALITY OF CONGRESS.

With much pleasure, we observe, that the resolution originally introduced into the senate by Mr. Babbour, for the purpose of employing Colonel Trumbull of this city, to execute four national paintings, has passed the house by a very large majority. It is a measure that will receive the approbation of a grateful and generous people. The present opportunity to preserve the form and likeness of those patriots to whom we owe, under Providence, our national existence, is a precious one, and if suffered to pass unimproved, will never again offer.

Col. Trumbull, the gentleman selected for the honourable task, is a son of the late revolutionary Governor Trumbull of Connecticut, and entered the army which achieved our independence, with all the ardor of youth, in 1776. He was soon appointed Adjutant-General to the army of the north, served on Lake Champlain, and his shores under Arnold, when Arnold fought on the side of his country. He was then an aid de camp to Washington, and filled other conspicuous and important offices. But it is not so much of Col. Trumbull's merits as an officer of the army, that we speak on this present occasion, as of the great historical painter.

This country has produced an extraordinary number of painters of great eminence; of whom West and Trumbull must be allowed to occupy the first place, as historical painters; as Copley and Stewart do as portrait painters. West and Copley have been the pride of England who claims them as her own. Trumbull and Stewart have returned to their native country, to enrich and honour it by the display of their talents here. Col. Trumbull was long the favorite pupil of West, and about the year 1785, he conceived and began to execute great plan of painting a series of pictures, commemorative of the most glorious events of the revolutionary war, and the establishment of the national independence. After finishing in London, the Battle of Bunker Hill and the Death of Montgomery, he returned home, and having with indefatigable zeal and industry, and at much expense, succeeded in procuring likenesses of several of his subjects, some in France, and some in London, he began his pictures of the Declaration of Independence (which contain an excellent portrait of every distinguished member of that celebrated body of men.) The Battle of Trenton, the Surrender of Burgoyne and Cornwallis, &c. &c. into all of which he has introduced the likeness of principal actors. May the present congress do honor to themselves and their country, by liberally encouraging him to complete his arduous undertaking, and by securing the benefits of them to the country.

GREGOR M. GREGOR.

Having observed in your paper of Friday, an article from Norfolk, relating to Sir Gregor M. Gregor, having abandoned the cause of the Venezuelans, after finding all his endeavors to establish any thing like concert, discipline or regular government among them, to be utterly unavailing. I am induced to state a few particulars relative to this person, from which you may deduce the probability of which he has ever been to the cause in question.

Dreadful Occurrence.—On Sunday night last, the Grist Mill of Mr. Peter Vantine, in Shannokin township, accidentally caught fire some time in the night, when the miller (Mr. Lomison) and his family had retired to bed. Mr. Ho-lison lived in one part of the mill. He heard the cry of fire and sprang out of bed, ran to the door to see from whence it proceeded, when instantly the flames dashed in at the door and suffocated him to such a degree that he could not get back to his room, himself and eldest child was in the flames, and was seen no more. His wife threw the youngest child out of the upper window, to some person who caught it in his arms without injuring the child much. The mother sprang out immediately after and injured herself very much.

Chronic Rheumatism.—By giving the following recipe a place in your paper, you will probably do a public good and oblige a Subscriber.

I have laboured under a disease called the chronic rheumatism, for nine months. I could get no relief from the faculty of physic—the pain increased to such a degree that I could scarcely walk; I stated my case to a friend who advised me to drink red pepper tea, which I accordingly did in the evening just before going to bed, and the next morning to my utter astonishment, I found myself entirely relieved from this disease, and have not had ever the slightest symptoms since.

General Vittoria de Guadalupe, with about 2000 men under his command, and within six leagues of Boquilla de Tiedras, between Halappa and Point el Rey, has gained a victory over the royalists, and taken, it is said, a million of dollars from them."

New-Orleans, Dec. 26.

An intelligent gentleman, who arrived here yesterday from Galvestown, gives us the following intelligence.

"A privateer commanded by captain Le Maison, had arrived from Boquilla de Piedras at Galvestown; she carried the news that the royalists having made a landing at some little distance from Boquilla, the patriot general Vittoria Guadalupe, warned of their designs, placed on their route several ambuscades that in a measure annihilated them—the loss of the royalists was estimated at 300 killed or wounded, and 150 prisoners.

General Vittoria has taken, besides, a convoy of Two Millions of Dollars, despatched under a strong escort from Mexico to Vera Cruz. The brig that was taken by the Venezuelan privateer Jupiter, and sent to Galvestown, is expected here every moment. The court of admiralty, having ascertained that she was taken in the waters of the United States, determined to send her to New-Orleans, and restore her to the proper owner."
